

Exam Name – ISO 50001 : 2018 - Certified Lead Auditor)

Sample Exam

Q) According to the ISO 50001 certification, it helps to implement a policy on the environment.

A) According to ISO 50001, the certification of an energy management system helps organizations to implement an energy policy and to properly manage the aspects derived from their activity involved in the use of energy.

B) According to ISO 50001 this helps implies the certification of an energy quality policy.

C) According to ISO 50001 this helps to be directed by any organization with high expenses in electricity that will control energy use and manage related costs more effectively

Answer: B

Q) Why is ISO 50001 certification important for an organization?

A) According to ISO 50001 this helps implies the certification of an energy quality policy. an energy policy and to properly manage the aspects derived from its activity Involved in the use of energy, which translates into real and quantifiable energy cost savings

B) Implement an energy policy and properly manage the aspects derived from its activity Involved in the use of energy, which translates into real and quantifiable energy cost savings

C) It is aimed at any organization with high electricity costs that will control energy use and manage related costs more effectively regardless of its sector size and geographic location.

D) It is an accredited guarantee of control and monitoring of energy aspects and demonstrates the commitment of an organization to the continuous improvement of energy management, allowing them to be a benchmark in their industry and compliance with regulatory and legal requirements

Answer: D

Q) What is one of the requirements for ISO 50001 certification?

A) Talk about English and electromechanical energy.

B) Talk about ISO 50001 about natural resources.

C) define, document, update and communicate the energy policy that establishes the strategy and improvement objectives

D) measurable, consistent with the quality policy and relevant to product and service conformity

Answer: C

Q) Which of the following ISO 50001 certification requirements is true?

A) Recover the main uses of energy in the organization (consumption baseline) and establish an opportunity for improvement

B) Establish the main uses of energy in the organization (consumption baseline) and establish an opportunity for improvement

C) analyze the main uses of energy in the organization (consumption baseline) and establish an opportunity for improvement

D) To plan the main uses of energy in the organization (consumption baseline) and establish an opportunity for improvement

Answer: C

Q) Select three benefits of ISO 50001 certification.

A) Designation of qualified personnel for energy management.

B) Reduction of greenhouse gas emissions AND contribution to the environment.

C) Effectiveness in the use of resources reducing claims, returns and rejections.

D) I promote renewable and alternative energies.

E) Talk about English and electromechanical energy.

Answer: BCD